Drafting your Character Reference: Final Template. Of course, the body paragraphs leave a lot of space for customization. This space allows you to make your personal recommendation letter unique to the candidate. Once you've drafted your letter, you just have one more important step in the writing process. My name is Daniel Giancola I am the Head Wrestling Coach at Niagara Falls High School. I have spent the past year coaching Chris. It is my pleasure to recommend Chris to be a student at your school. Over the past season it was a pleasure getting to know Chris. Chris had joined our wrestling team for his senior year. What Is A Character Reference Letter? A character reference letter is written by someone who knows you personally. Instead of highlighting your professional skills and qualities, this letter is meant to speak to your personal qualities. These are at least equal in importance, if not significantly more important. You can teach skills on the job. Teaching character is a whole other animal. A character reference (also known as a personal reference) is a letter written by someone who knows the job candidate and can speak to his or her character and abilities. Unlike professional references , the person writing the reference is not an employer.
