How The Birds Got Their Colours. Then the Galah had an idea, she rushed over and bit the Dove's swollen foot with her sharp, hooked beak. The Dove cried out in pain and all the colours in nature flowed out of the Dove's foot and splashed all over every bird gathered around. Some got only a little colour, some got one or two colours,...As the title of the book clearly shows it is about how the birds got their colours. The book travels back in time to when the world was first created. Long ago the birds were all black till one day the dove flew around in search of food. As the dove flew down to the ground to catch his target he landed on a sharp stick.
