Infertility, like any disease, is simply a sign that something is not right inside the body and must be fixed. It isn't a deficiency in fertility drugs or due to a lack of IVF. Fertility is a natural process in the body, but one that the body can turn off if it doesn't feel it can safely sustain a pregnancy. Luckily, there are a few natural ways to increase your fertility and become pregnant faster. In fact, diet and lifestyle changes can help boost fertility by up to 69%. For most women, the answer is no: after the first few weeks, an IVF pregnancy is the same as a "regular" pregnancy in every respect, at least insofar as any two pregnancies can be compared. Every woman and every pregnancy is unique, no matter how the baby is conceived. Pregnancy over 50: There are many women who are still fertile over the age of 50, here are some updated true stories of Natural conception. Can women get pregnant over 50 naturally without IVF with a natural conception? Yes, it has happened plenty of times and here are a number of documented cases of women who conceived naturally and had a baby over the age of 50.
