

Download Postharvest Management Of Horticultural Produce Recent Trends

Obviously, postharvest management determines food quality and safety, competitive-ness in the market, and the profits earned by producers. The postharvest management of fruit and vegetables in most developing countries in the region is, however, far from satisfactory. The mission of the Postharvest Technology Center is: Reduce postharvest losses and improve the quality, safety and marketability of fresh horticultural products. Food Safety at Farmer's Markets and Agrotourism Venues (PDF 1.2 MB) UC Postharvest Handling. A selection of publications focusing on postharvest control of microbial decay and spoilage. y Review the current status of research, development and adoption of postharvest management and value addition of horticultural produce in the Asia-Pacific region. y Highlight the latest technologies on postharvest, value addition, food safety and information management with emphasis on low cost technologies for small farmers. Postharvest technologies have allowed horticultural industries to meet the global demands of local and large-scale production and intercontinental distribution of fresh produce that have high nutritional and sensory quality.